On June 12, 2016, Darrion Sterling of the Black Bears Wrestling Club competed at the Junior Pan American Championships in Barinas, Venezuela. Sterling represented Canada in the Women's 72kg division at the event where she finished with a Bronze Medal.

Sterling began the event with losses to competitors from Cuba and Ecuador, but recovered to defeat her last two opponents. She pinned her competitor from Mexico, and then bested her Brazilian opponent by technical superiority to capture the Bronze for Canada.

This is Sterling's second medal at a Pan American Championships, as she had previously earned a Bronze at the 2013 Cadet Pan American Championships in Medellin, Colombia.
